

ARGILANES VESICULARES EN ALFISOLES

SUMMARY

The present study deals with the presence of argillans found in vesicles. The vesicles occurred in argillic horizons of Paleo- and Rhodoxeralfs soils which were developed on medium terraces (3<sup>a</sup> terrace), of the River Guadalquivir (Province of Cordoba, Southern-Spain). A description is given of the mineralogical and micromorphological characteristics of these soils.